Terminal Block Adapters for Barix Products

Barix is always providing our professional solutions to customers at the best price possible. When it comes to replacement terminal adaptors, we have realized that sourcing them from our factory, shipping them around the globe and making them available through our distributors in small quantities is very cost and labor intensive, leading to very high prices for such parts. Many of these products are distributed worldwide by the manufacturer and therefore many times can be sourced locally at a lower price than if we provide them. For convenience, you can always get them quoted from us. In order to follow our goal of truly cost-effective solutions, you might want to find a local supplier. In order to help, here a list of the terminal adapters to our Annunicom products and their original manufacturer's product numbers.

Barix, always the most cost-effective solution for audio and control over IP.
